

BREAK ING THE MOLD

Attend an international tradeshow dedicated to plastics — NPE2012 in Orlando, Florida USA

From the plastics of today to the engineered materials of tomorrow, our industry unites in 2012 to Break the Mold at The International Plastics Showcase. For the first time ever, professionals from around the world will gather in Orlando, Florida to uncover the latest tools and techniques needed to reshape our industry — and continue our impressive evolution.

Not only is Orlando a convenient location for professionals coming from far-reaching countries, Florida's largest inland metropolis offers attendees exceptional travel and hotel rates, and an international airport that is easily accessible to all. NPE2012 is a must-attend event that promises to deliver solutions that you can profit from immediately. See the latest in bio-renewable thermoplastics, injection molding, polymer nanocomposites, nanofibers and the green technologies that are changing the way we do business. Join tens of thousands of your peers to network, form lasting partnerships, share success stories and learn how to profit from the challenges we face today and tomorrow.

Orlando is more than a vibrant destination, in 2012 it will become the epicenter of the plastics universe.

Visit us in-person at Booth #80204 or online at www.npe.org.

The International Plastics Showcase

April 1–5, 2012 | www.npe.org

Orange County Convention Center, Orlando, Florida USA

produced by spi

